

My Open Source Career Map

Make a copy to create your own version.

The purpose of this map is to help you:

- Use a strategy to establish how open source can help accelerate and enrich your personal and career goals.
- Articulate your career vision and aspirations through open source.
- Use this information to drive further discussions and action.

Values

Achievement	Fame	Loyalty
Advancement	Family happiness	Order
Adventure	Freedom	Personal development
Affection	Friendship	Pleasure
Competitiveness	Health	Power
Cooperation	Helpfulness	Recognition
Creativity	Individualism	Responsibility
Economic security	Inner harmony	Self-respect
Equality	Integrity	Wealth
Fairness	Involvement	Wisdom
		Other

What are the top values you see that deepening your experiences with open source can bring?

Your Career Vision

List up to five ideas that drive your career satisfaction through open source:

An example might be 'learn how to administer a GitHub repository', mentor a new open source contributor, or contribute to a open source project your team uses.

How will your values influence your choices?

Describe your open source career goals:

How would you determine success – in 6 months?:

How would you determine success – in 1 year?:

How would you determine success – in 5 years?:

List the things that you feel you want and need to be successful in your open source goals, and how that aligns with those things that Microsoft needs.

What you want/need	What the company/org wants/needs

Action Planning

What are your immediate next steps to start this journey?

What would you like to initially share with your manager about these goals?

For final steps of this mapping please return to the course, and complete the final module.